

Emotions, aesthetics and technology

Mamoli at FuoriSalone 2010 is one of the protagonists in the "Nasce Casa" space by Lops Arredamenti.

Mamoli is involved in the "Nasce Casa" space by Lops Arredamenti, one of central events at FuoriSalone 2010. The inauguration on 14 April (18.30) will welcome a full-scale "Architecture Square" where it will be possible to find everything concerning the home. The square will be dominated by the new and fully-functional eco-domotic home. This home, with guided visits accompanied by professional experts, will host the most advanced domotic and automation technologies ensuring environmental protection and giving life to a comfortable and healthy setting, together with stylish, high quality furnishings and eco-sustainable systems for energy saving - all detailed in living spaces and true oases of well-being for care of the body and spirit. A place such as this, created to offer designers and clients the experience of a stimulating travel seeking all the emotive, functional, technological and aesthetic components that turn a home into a full-scale, made-to-measure setting, could hardly not include Mamoli Robinetteria, which has consolidated its prestige through quality in design, materials and manufacturing techniques. The home created by Lops will thereby be enhanced by the historic Milan tap company with the new products in its catalogue, such as Euclide, Pico and Chef, helping to give shape to that meeting between emotions, aesthetics and technology that has always been the recipe for projects by Mamoli.
